I qualified as a speech and language therapist in 1977.

I have a special interest in autistic spectrum disorders, providing therapy and support to ASD children from early years to teens. I have worked for the National Autistic Society providing therapy in 3 of their adult residential centres.

I also specialise in early speech and language disorders. I have worked in this field since 1978 and have continued to work and study in both this field and autistic spectrum disorders.

For the first 10 years of my career I worked solely for the N.H.S. and for 7 of those years held specialist posts with responsibility for assessment, referral and therapy of preschool and school age children with significant speech and language difficulties, firstly in Cambridge and then in Stevenage.

My responsibilities also involved offering support and advice to parents, teachers and to other speech and language therapists.

I founded Cambridge Independent Speech Therapy in 1988 and worked as a sole practitioner until 1993, when Katherine Macey joined the practice for 10 years. Since founding C.I.S.T I have taken on part time work, when requested, for Cambridge, Stevenage and Huntingdon NHS Speech Therapy Departments.

In 1983 I founded the Cambridge branch of the national charity; Association For All Speech Impaired Children\(A.F.A.S.I.C.\) and remained it's chairman for several years.

I have over 30 years clinical experience and have worked in specialist speech and language units, schools for children with special educational needs, hospitals and community clinics. I have experience working with:

- ASD
